

Wise people are usually full of pride.

(A): True(B): False

Pride and self confidence are two separate things, but people often mistake one for the other.

(A): True(B): False

Having a negative self image is not the same as humility.

(A): True(B): False

Meekness is not weakness. It is strength under control.

(A): True(B): False

Only proud people get promoted in the workplace.

(A): True(B): False

The world often celebrates pride in celebrities.

(A): True(B): False

We can hide our pride from God if we are smart enough.

(A): True(B): False

Being humble means that we don't like our self very well.

(A): True(B): False

There is great honor in humility.

(A): True(B): False

Others eventually see through our pride. It will surface and be obvious even if we think we are humble.

(A): True(B): False

Pride is an inflated sense of our personal status or opinion of our abilities and accomplishments.

(A): True(B): False

Pride comes from taking the credit for something. It is always honorable to defer the credit to God and others.

(A): True(B): False

When you are the best or most flourishing in a group, it is only natural or common to take the credit. God understands.

(A): True(B): False

When you are smarter than others, you are more important. They should step aside.

(A): True(B): False

Often times, being humble and feeling inferior are confused.

(A): True(B): False

If I am humble, I will not draw attention to myself and remain modest in my actions, appearance, and attitude.

(A): True(B): False

Being courteous and respectful are signs of pride.

(A): True(B): False

Being patient is a byproduct of having pride.

(A): True(B): False

When I am impatient, I am feeling superior to others. My time is more important than yours.

(A): True(B): False

We show honor, when we humble ourselves. When God has to humble us, we have brought dishonor on ourselves.

(A): True(B): False