

Hearing a "WORD" from God - -

1. It's never for you!
2. It's always for you!
3. It's both...

When the Pastor speaks, you should hear from God.

When you watch an online message, you should hear from God.

When you read and study the Bible, you should hear from God.

When the message is clear and meaningful, you should get a copy, share a link, pass it on to a friend or family member. You should discuss it, unpack it, apply it.

You will need a revelation and, they will need a revelation.

It is never EXCLUSIVELY for you. It's never EXCLUSIVELY about you.

You are self centered (narcissistic) if you think everything God does and speaks is only to you. Only for you. You are "projecting" if you always think "man they really need to hear this".

He has the ability to orchestrate both personal private meanings and public corporate applications. The principle of the message may need to hit someone in the face with conviction and the application may be personally comforting to an individual at a specific time about an isolated situation. That's how BIG our God is, that's how brilliant His mind is. That's how purposeful His plan is.

For him who has ears to hear, let him hear.

God's word is alive and active, it will never return void.

Jesus said to Peter, "man did not reveal this to you, The spirit of God revealed this to you"
