

10 ways to know that church is all about YOU ! (indicators of spiritual immaturity)

1. You attend when it's convenient (Inconvenient includes)
 - a. don't feel good
 - b. woke up late
 - c. busy with something else (lake, in-laws, etc)
 2. You serve / volunteer once a year or not at all
 3. You give an offering of whatever cash happens to be in your pocket (maybe)
 4. You sing (not too loud) only when that 1 favorite song is happening.
 5. I don't attend a small group of any kind
 6. You expect all your spiritual food (Bible study) for the week in 30 minutes or less, and it better be entertaining!
 7. I do not ask how the Pastor, staff, or leaders could use any help.
 8. I am "put out" if parking or seating or restrooms are a bother in any way.
 9. I am offended if people do not know me by name and ask about me and my family's needs.
 10. If you spend any possible "quiet time" on your phone instead of approaching someone else.

For those at the next level (who give, serve, have devotions, even lead)

1. You get offended when another leader tells you NO.
2. You don't like how others serve, or their commitment is lacking.
3. Policy is not the way you want it to be, or changes without your permission.
4. You assume things should be a certain way, and don't like asking for clarification. You're not very teachable.
5. Money from another budget is not in your control.
6. Procedures to get things done is frustrating and makes you want to quit.
7. Your supervisor's personality or style is frustrating and makes you want to quit.
8. You feel responsible for someone else's sins.
9. You pout when your feelings are hurt.
10. You threaten to quit.
 - Frustration is an indicator of a lack of understanding, lack of cooperation and restricts your control over others.
